Gabetsbergerstraße

An aerial photograph of a residential development. In the foreground, a large, irregularly shaped plot of land is outlined in green. This plot is mostly bare earth with some sparse vegetation and a small pile of rocks. To the left of the plot is a dirt road with red-painted edges. To the right is a paved area with a white van parked. In the background, several modern multi-story apartment buildings are visible. One building on the left has a prominent glass facade. Other buildings are white and yellow. The surrounding area includes trees and other residential buildings in the distance.
